

SANKT VELTEN What If

Press - Info

Following their promising debut album 'The Discreet Charm Of Evil' and after a forced break due to the coronavirus pandemic and various line-up changes SANKT VELTEN are back with a new line-up and the song 'What If'.

In addition to Arnd aka SANKT VELTEN and Eldar Ibrahimovic, Tom Becker on bass, known for his work with HOLY MOSES and ANGEL DUST, among others, is now part of the band's line-up.

SANKT VELTEN remain true to their style, which can best be described as a mixture of speed and power metal, supplemented by influences from the "New Wave of British Heavy Metal" (NWOBHM). The song "What if" impresses with its driving groove and catchy choruses. The lyrics deal with the dystopia in which the world could be a wonderful place, but man as the crown of creation often only brings forth war, destruction, environmental pollution and exploitation. A quote from Aldous Huxley serves as inspiration for the lyrics: "Maybe this world is another planet's hell."

Like the debut album, "What If" will also be released on the label "Scare-Records" and will be available worldwide as a download and stream from August 16th. A music video will also be published on YouTube to coincide with the release.

With the release of "What If", SANKT VELTEN continue their musical journey and offer all fans a energetic and profound track.
